

CHILDREN'S Day 2017

It was a very sweet (no pun intended) experience serving at the Candy Floss station today. Seeing the kids so excitedly and joyously watching the floss spinning bigger and bigger into a big cloud, with some even looking longingly with open mouths; shows that we have captured that simple joy for them on this Children's Day! Even though the wait was quite a while, most of the children stood in line patiently for their turn, finding ways to entertain themselves, with some exceptions having to learn the lesson of moving to the back for cutting the queue. It was quite heart-warming to see some girls showing their thanks when we brought them little bags of nuggets and fishballs to fill their tummies while waiting. Overall, the delight on the kids' faces, made today's volunteering session very fulfilling for me.

PS: Not forgetting the 2 young ladies who painstakingly spun the candyfloss for our girls, non-stop for 4hrs. Cheers to them!
