

With the December holidays over, the start of the year seemed a perfect time to welcome the new P1 parents into the IJ community, as well as catch up with our existing spirited parent volunteers (PV)! Hence CPC extended an invitation to all parent volunteers to join us in a 'Get-To-Know-Us Welcome Breakfast'.

Early on 24 February, the inaugural CPC-PV Breakfast was held at the CHIJ Primary Student Care Centre, with refreshments of light breakfast snacks and beverages being served.

After a short presentation which highlighted the role of CPC and some of our programmes and activities in 2016, there was interaction with the parents who had many of their queries answered. Parents were also informed of how they could contribute and be a part of our IJ PV community.

The CPC would like to take this opportunity to thank all the parents who took the time to come down to get to know us, and find out how they can help out, we hope you found our discussions useful. Parent participation is vital in making our programmes successful and we look forward to seeing you in 2016's upcoming events!
